The IENC Harmonization Group (IEHG) Discussion Forum is available on the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) All Partners Access Network (APAN) website.

Create an Account

1. Please go to https://apan.org, choose your language, and "Create an Account"

2. Once your account has been created (APAN will email you to confirm your account activation),
3. Sign in and under "search" type in IEHG or click on the link below.
   Inland ENC Harmonization Group (IEHG) Discussion Forum - Home

4. Once you request access to the IEHG, the USAC will be notified via email and will approve you to join the Discussion Forum.

Notifications / Alerts – if you would like to set up alerts to notify you when new content has been added, you will need to follow these steps:

1. For each of the Discussion Boards (General, Change Request, and S-100) and the subsite on S-401, click on the topic, e.g. "General"

2. Choose "Page" and then choose "Alert Me", "Set an alert on this page"

3. You can then title your Alert, e.g. IEHG General Discussion Alert, and set your delivery preferences.

Another option for setting up alerts is to go to the following link https://wss.apan.org/army/iehg/_layouts/15/SubChoos.aspx where you individually select the radial button for each discussion and add them individually as different alerts. In the example below, 3 separate alerts have been added, one each for General Discussions, Change Requests, and S-100 Discussions

One item of note is that accounts are made inactive after 35 days of inactivity, so if you do not log on to the system within a 35 day period you will need to submit a ticket to have your account re-activated. This typically will only take a few hours to resolve.
